IRISH AIRMAIL SOCIETY

The Irish Airmail Society was founded in 1989, following interest in airmails shown by several philatelists, some resident in Ireland and others in Great Britain, Switzerland, Canada and U.S.A. The Society had over 30 members within its first year. Coincidentally, it was formed in the year of the 50th Anniversary of the first regular passenger and airmail service across the North Atlantic to Foynes.

The philatelic interests of these members is very varied but very few specialise only in airmails. The main objectives of the Society are to study Irish Airmails in all its aspects, Early Flights, Rates, Routes, Recent Irish Flights, Aerogrammes, Airmail Stamps and Etiquettes, etc.

The Society is a Patron Founder of the Foynes Flying Boat Museum. It is also a member of the Federation of Philatelic Societies of Ireland.

Meetings are sometimes held in Dublin each October to coincide with the annual Irish National Stamp Exhibition ("Stampa") and is normally held at the show venue. Members are notified in advance.

The Society publishes a bulletin, O.E.78, called after the former Airmail etiquette identification number. The bulletin contains very varied information and articles about airmails. Two issues are published each year – the subscription covers a volume of four issues. Occasionally, the Society also distributes booklets/pamphlets on specific subjects.

Articles and letters should be sent to the editor:

William Murphy
